

OCTOBER 2021

DENSO presents recent developments in R&D for sustainable mobility at Aachen Colloquium 2021

GERMANY – DENSO, one of the world's leading suppliers of advanced automotive technologies, will participate in the 30th Edition of Aachen Colloquium from October 4th until October 6th, 2021. DENSO will exhibit some of its latest advancements in R&D and deliver two key technical presentations under emission concepts and power electronics categories. This year marks the 11th time since DENSO first participated in Aachen Colloquium.

In line with its theme of shaping the future of sustainable mobility, the DENSO booth will feature various subjects, showcasing its expertise in Thermal, FCEV (Fuel Cell Electric Vehicle), Hydrogen, Energy Management, and Electrification.

On October 5th, DENSO experts will present a topic under emission concepts, entitled, "Challenges for CV Powertrains Meeting Strict Future Low-Emission Regulations: Will Electrification Be the Solution?". On October 6th, DENSO will present results out of joint research with RWTH Aachen University in a discussion about "DENSO's Novel Development Approach for Power Electronics and its Control".

Over the last seven decades, DENSO has worked alongside numerous trusted partners to deliver products with the highest standards of quality and reliability. Guided by its long-term commitment to its vision of 'Green' and 'Peace of Mind', DENSO is committed to developing core technologies designed to move society towards a safer and more sustainable future.
